Cooper to leave PwC

Frank Cooper has foreshadowed his resignation from 'big four' accounting firm PwC. Mr Cooper has been a client service partner in the tax and legal services division at PwC's Perth office for the past six years. Prior to joining PwC, he spent 25 years at Arthur Andersen. Mr Cooper will formally depart PwC at the end of the calendar year, however he will continue part-time from July 1 and finish in the office in early October. He continues with his roles as chair of the WA Football Commission, and member of the Major Performing Arts Board and the UWA Senate.
